Chiyoki Ikeda, 39, an Army civilian employe at the Pentagon, was one of the 63 persons killed yesterday when a Northwest Orient Airlines plane blew up in Indiana.

Mr. Ikeda, of 5516 Seventy-seventh street, Cabin John, Md., had been on a business trip and was returning home on the turbo-prop aircraft.

He and his wife Mildred and son George, 12, came to the Washington area in January, after a three-year tour in Japan. He is the American-born son of Japanese parents who live in Hawaii. Mr. Ikeda, a graduate of the University of Hawaii, served as an officer in the Army during World War II.

He also leaves a brother, Lt. Kenneth Ikeda of Fort Sill, Okla. Mrs. Ikeda, who is expecting another child, was placed under a doctor's care this morning after learning of the plane crash.
